www.timetochangeartproject.com

The project is designed to analyse feelings and perceptions about the European Crisis through several art exhibitions. It aims to show what's behind this situation, and the cultural and social issues related to it.

The project also aims to fight the condition of numbness and apathy generated by the lack of hope in a better future by supporting the idea that only actions bring changes and inviting artists to create art with a social purpose.

THEME: European Crisis, Immigration - Social/Cultural Context

MEDIA: Painting, Sculpture, Photography, Installation, Video...

ABOUT

As mentioned above the project seeks to analyse feelings and perceptions about the European Crisis through several art exhibitions.

Immigration is a very important part of the theme because it doesn't affect only the immigrants themselves. We believe that it is very interesting to collect different points of view about this topic.

WHY

The economic situation has been the main push factor towards the migration of thousands of people coming from developed countries but it is not the issue itself.

This situation is related to many other problems that need to be fought and solved. It has also created a cultural depletion, and the death of individual identity.

HOW

By creating artworks and exploring the feelings and issues behind the crisis, it will take a physical form and it won't be possible to ignore the situation anymore. The artworks will be constructively identified, which will increase people's awareness and will eventually lead to some positive changes.

It is all too easy to pretend that we are too small to make significant changes in the society that we live in, but lots can actually be done and art is definitely a great way to express opinions and to point out issues, as well as being very accessible to a wide audience.

Also we would like local people to better understand the reasons of this migration, as we believe that this will help to develop a stronger relation between the local community and the immigrants themselves.
